HEBREW ORPHANS' HOME

Monument to Eight Children in Orphans' Home Fire

Erected in memory of the eight children of the Montreal Hebrew Orphans' Home, who lost their lives in the fire which destroyed the summer home of the institution at Shawbridge early in the morning of August 15, 1922, a monument in the Shaar Hashomayim cemetery, Mount Royal Park, was unveiled. The monument, which is in the form of tombstone, marks the grave wherein is buried a small heap of charred remains of the eight children, all boys, who were trapped by the flames in the room in which they were sleeping. The victims had been at the home only a few days when the fire occurred. Forty-five other children were in the home at the time, but were sleeping on the wide balconies of the building, and escaped unharmed.

The service was conducted by Cantor J. Segal, of the Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue, Westmount, relatives and friends of the dead children being present, together with the children of the Montreal Hebrew Orphans' Home, and members of the Board. Rabbi Max Merritt and J. A. Jacobs, president of the home, both gave short addresses, in which they referred to the tragic circumstances of the children's deaths. The actual unveiling ceremony was performed by four children of the home. The monument bears the name of the Montreal Hebrew Orphans' Home, and the Hebrew equivalent for "Rest in Peace," and the following names are inscribed: Louis Spitzuick, aged 14; Joseph Feigelson, aged 7; Samuel White, aged 9; Isidore White, aged 10; Max Broitman, aged 7; Chona Shechter, aged 5; and Palti Shechter, aged 5, and Isadore Broitman.

MAIL BAG

Dear Cousin Judith:

I received the check and it (being the first money that I have ever earned) is very dear to me, and I have finally decided that I shall not part with it unless necessity compels me to.

I guess you must be a fortune-teller to be able to guess one of my worst faults—I am a bookworm! Mother and dad say that by the time I am twenty I will have no eyes left if I keep on reading at this rate. My friends all say, "Whenever Fannie comes over be sure and hide your books for she won't know if you are standing beside her or are in the North Pole. She will get so interested in even the sight of a book."

A few days ago I received a letter from a friend of mine who is visiting the Thousand Islands. I have compared my views of them and hers, and find that we both have about the same opinion about them—that they are wonderful.

I was down at Alexander Bay last year and saw them, and I am still dreaming about them for they are wonderful! I am sure when one first sees this freak of nature they think that they have entered wonderland. I saw one island that I thought was wonderful. It was rather a small island in the centre of it was a large and magnificent house, it was marble and had a wonderful tower, but little of the house could be seen, for wild roses climbed over it, and on all sides a wonderful green lawn lay which seemed more like a luxurious carpet than one of nature's products—and at the edge of the lawn the river rippled playfully—children sang and frolicked on the lawn—and all combined, nature and childhood and the house, made a picture which any one could admire, but still the picture is not complete for as the background (it being sunset) was all the shades of a rainbow, and cast a soft halo round the island and its contents which perfected the picture.

I feel like writing and writing, but I must not be selfish and take too much space when there are others as important (perhaps more important) all eager to see their letters in print. Good-bye for the present.

Fannie Fleming.

Dear Fannie:

I'm ever so glad that you're pleased with your cheque . . . and I do hope it brings you luck, lots of it. What books have you been reading? Have you read Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn"? Because they're good fun. Your letter makes me feel that I would like to visit the Thousand Islands. I suppose I shall some day soon. At any rate I hope to. And folks say that if one hopes hard enough . . . well, things just naturally happen the way one wants 'em to. What say? Au revoir until next week.

Cousin Judith.

Dear Cousin Judith:

I have often read the Junior REVIEW Section and have longed to belong to it, but did not have the time to spare, but I am sparing you a few minutes now, to tell you I would like to join and have a good piece to put in. Hoping that this piece will be suitable to put in.

I remain yours,
Jennie Uditsky.

Dear Jennie:

I am very glad you did manage to find a few minutes for us. Come again—and stay longer. Are you going to enter the Contest? I hope so.

Cousin Judith.

HOME AND LOVE

Just Home and Love! the words are small,
Four little letters unto each;
And yet you will not find in all
The wide and gracious range of speech
Two more so tenderly complete:
When angels talk in Heaven above,
I'm sure they have no words more sweet
Than Home and Love.

Jimmie—"Well, when he was at Sunday School last Sunday his teacher told him that we were made of dust, so the next day mother found him trying to put the baby up the vacuum cleaner, so mother spanked him, and he would not come to-day for fear that the teacher would tell him something like that again."

MARRIAGES

Barash-Beitcher

The marriage of Anna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Beitcher to Mr. Myer Barash of this city was solemnized on Sunday, November 11, in the ball room of the Mount Royal Hotel, at 5.30 o'clock. Rabbi Berger, assisted by Mr. Kaplansky, officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a French gown of white georgette, embroidered with crystal beads and pearls and bordered with bands of ermine. Her veil, which was made with a solid border of pearls, was arranged in cap shape with orange blossoms placed at either side in Japanese fashion. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and orchids with shower of lilies-of-the-valley. The matron of honour was Miss Eva Laterman who wore a gown of black chiffon velvet with an overskirt in apron effect of black net, embroidered in gold and orange flowers, and bordered with platinum fur. She wore headdresses of pearls and rhinestones and carried bouquets of roses and lilies-of-the-valley. They were Miss Etta Laterman, who wore a gown of orange georgette in bouffante style with silver ribbons; Miss Gertrude Ginsberg, in a gown of pale rose crepe romaine covered with rhinestones; Miss Celia Kander in mauve georgette over peach taffeta with front panel of gold brocaded chiffon and French flowers; Miss Anna Kramer, in a French gown of pale green with gold braid; and Miss Anna Kussner, cousin of the bride, in a gown of silver cloth and silver georgette with pearl trimmings. The best man was Mr. Sam Kaufman, and the groomsmen were Messrs. Dave Coveler, Moe Bald, Bill Margolin, Al. Adelstein, and Morris Miller. The mother of the bride wore a French gown of black georgette, with allover beading of crystal and a large black hat with aigrettes and a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses. The ball room was decorated with flowers and potted plants, and presented a very beautiful appearance. The soft strains of Mendelsohn's Wedding March were heard as the bridal procession appeared. Immediately after the ceremony, the guests adjourned to the dining room, which had been converted into a veritable garden. About three hundred guests sat down to dinner. The groom's gift to the bride was a platinum and diamond bar-pin, to the bridesmaids, silver vanity novelties, and to the groomsmen gold cuff-links. The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. S. Beitcher and Mr. Louis Beitcher, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Bologky and Miss Esther Axelbaum, of St. Louis, Mo. NOVEMBER 16 1923 VOLUME V. NUMBER 3

Editorial

"HEP, HEP, JUDEN HERAUS!"

Spinoza once wrote, "The heaviest burden that man can lay upon us is not that they persecute us with their hatred and their scorn, but it is by the planting of hatred and scorn in our souls." These words came to mind when we reflected on some of the statements contained in an editorial on "German anti-Semitism," in the Toronto Globe of last week. One of the statements reads as follows:

"In several countries on the Continent nationalism has taken a strong and anti-Semitic bent and the lot of the Jews has become one of new hardships and insecurities. In part it (anti-Semitism) is the price they pay for their refusal to become assimilated and for their determination to preserve their racial identity in all circumstances."

The same editorial deals with another reason for the spread of anti-Semitism in Europe, namely, "that the Jews are admittedly the brains of the Communist movement in Germany as in Russia and elsewhere."

There is, on the very surface of these two contentions a self-evident contradiction. On the one hand the Jews are accused of being racialists of the most narrow and unassimilating kind, whilst on the other they are charged with being the most extreme kind of cosmopolites. For that is what Communism implies. Communism is the very antithesis to the distinctions, not alone of economic classes, but of all racial, national and religious differences. Communists are the most radical kind of assimilators. They would merge all the little ponds of mankind into one big ocean of human uniformity and homogenity.

If Jews are hated and persecuted because they are the arch type of assimilators, then how can they be charged with "refusing to become assimilated and for their determination to preserve their racial identity in all circumstances." On the other hand, if the latter statement is true, then how is its opposite true, "it is admitted that Jews are the brains of the Communist movement in Germany as in Russia and elsewhere," since these statements are mutually exclusive and contradictory rather than inclusive and synonymous?

Communism and narrow racialism are extreme forms of social philosophy and as such they undoubtedly have adherents among some Jews who are extremists. But the mass of Jews being like the mass of other nationalities are not to be found at either extreme. If people could only learn to think o Jews, as just human beings, whose fundamental nature is neither better nor worse than other peoples, then the devil myths which are so current about the Jews would have a short existence. It is strange how the world insists on making Jews out to be something that they are not. The mass of Jews, like the mass of other peoples, become very largely what Canada and the United States, where the Jew is a free citizen, he readily assimilates all that is best as well as all that is worst in his neighbors. In fact the Jew has a genius for assimilation. Why reiterate what the Jew has contributed to all branches of life and culture in these countries, when it is already so well known, and so readily available to those who would only open their eyes, and know?

In countries like Poland and present-day Germany, where even the native-born Jew, whose ancestors have lived there longer, in many instances, than the ancestors of the present inhabitants, is denied the elementary rights of free citizenship, and is hounded and hunted like an alien beast in a foreign jungle, is there any wonder that the Jew draws into his shell? It is natural in the animal and human species for those who are attacked to protect themselves in the manner best known to them; in fact, in the event of a life and death struggle, the body is known to produce hidden reservoirs of power with which to ward off the blows of the enemy. In central Europe the Jew is fighting for recognition of minority group rights, against the greatest odds, because the Government is so constituted that it recognizes not the individual but the ethnic groups to which he belongs, and every person in the State is entitled to those rights that his group is permitted.

In a sense we have a parallel, though not an identical, situation in Canada, where the law grants to Catholics and French-Canadians certain privileges, such as the maintenance of separate schools, and recognition of the French language. Would it occur to anyone in this country to say that the insistence on their rights by French-Canadian Catholics and their refusal to surrender these rights and assimilate with, let us say, the Anglo-Saxon Protestant group, is warrant for pogroms, riots, expulsions, and excesses on the French-Canadian, such as are breaking over the head of Jews in Eastern Europe and now in Germany? Anyone in Canada who dared so bold and erratic a move would be put under lock and bar and judged insane. Yet this very insistence by the Jew in Eastern Europe is regarded as legitimate warrant for anti-Semitic outbreaks.

The anti-Semitic movement in Germany and Eastern Europe and now in the U.S.A. does not have its real cause in the erroneous and lying claims that the Jews refuse to assimilate or that they are Communists. These are only the superficial reasons that are given to throw sand in the eyes of the ignorant masses. The real reasons are to be found firstly in the need of a scapegoat. The utter disallusionment and hopelessness that followed from the war has given rise to the need of having someone to blame for the utter fiasco of it all. The masses of people of whom Tennyson so well said, "Their's not to reason why, their's but to do and die," are awaking out of their war stupor. They know that someone has blundered and they are thirsting for the blood of revenge. Those junkers, royalists and reactionaries responsible in Germany and elsewhere for the war, anxious to save their own skins, are cleverly steering the hungry, enraged masses from their own hearth and pointing to the Jew. The ignorant masses are revenging themselves by crucifying an innocent people who like one of their sons was crucified 1890 years ago; the only difference being that he whom the Christian world worships was crucified only once, whereas his people have been continuously crucified, oftentimes in his name, for 1900 years. The Jews in every era of history, especially in the reaction following every war, have been the world's scapegoats, even as we are that scapegoat to-day.

There is still another motive for present-day anti-Semitism, and that is the economic fear of the Jew because, as the grocer in Galsworthy's Loyalties puts it, "'e gets on so well." The economic success with which Jewish enterprise is meeting is a bone in the throat of the Gentile world, which, because of their unwillingness to swallow, is choking them into a rage of stupid and useless hate and jealousy. As well try to sweep the ocean away with a broom as to hope to kill the Jew by anti-Semitism, and the sooner the Gentile world learns this simple historical lesson, the better for all concerned. And last but not least, the motive par excellence of anti-Semitism is the basic difference in moral, ethical and spiritual outlook between the Jewish and Gentile worlds.

At this time when our people in Germany are passing through the worst forms of anti-Semitism that we have experienced in that country in a century and a half, and our brethren in the United States are contending with the K.K.K., we are inclined to agree with Mr. Louis Marshall, who, in his presidential address before the American Jewish Committee, expressed the hope that with the spread of genuine moral enlightenment the Gentile world may experience a change in attitude towards the Jew. It is to say the least comforting so to believe,

If you could plan a laundry

If you, a housewife, were to plan a laundry for family wash you would no doubt suggest the very things that make this new plant a success—fresh air, sunshine, soft water, pure soap, no marking, and each washing done separately. These are splendid features and make a big difference—the real difference, as a matter of fact, between this and ordinary laundries. If you are interested in better treatment of your family wash, phone to-day.

It is most unfortunate, too, that just now, when Germany needs the sympathy of the liberal and thinking people of the world, and when she had just begun to win it, that she should thus suddenly alienate this sympathy by raising the very "Hep, hep, Juden heraus!" which has not been heard in Germany for close to two centuries. The Ludendorfs and Hittlers are the worst enemies the Germans have. It is to be hoped that the soberer minds of Germany will triumph over the reactionary forces which alone can restore confidence in her.

When will the Gentile world learn the lesson that hatred of the Jew ultimately destroys those that hate, whilst the Jew marches on triumphantly?

We bring aid and comfort to this community with the news that there is another city just as delinquent in the matter of subscribing to charities and such like as Toronto is. The other one is the city of St. Louis which, according to the Jewish Voice published there, is pretty bad when it comes to digging deep for anything except diamonds, cars, et cetera, for the comfortable minority. We object to the claim of the Voice that no other Jewish community has such a record as St. Louis. There are others, in Canada if not in the United States, and not a million miles from Toronto, either.

Rabbi Louis J. Kopald, of Buffalo's de luxe congregation, Beth Zion, has recently been listing heavily to the side of Zionism and at a meeting of Zionists in Buffalo gave credit for his conversion, so slow in coming, to the persuasive powers of an attorney by the name of Sundel Hollender. We have heard Mr. Hollender without wishing that the lintels might grow large as they did in olden days for the passage of gods, but since he was able to affect Rabbi Kopald at all why couldn't he have worked this wonder several years ago, when Zionism lacked even more sharply than it does now support from the wary Reform pulpitry? Did not Mr. Hollender's tardy success cast doubt upon his real ability as mesmerist we should unhesitatingly urge the Zionist movement to disengage him from the small field of Buffalo and let him loose to try his silvery tongue in wider fields on even tougher subjects.

The most amusing situation in the history of American Jews is the present one with regard to Israel Zangwill and . . . . After the "and" might be placed many topics for everything is Zangwill just now, but none of the topics would be as funny as Israel Zangwill and the American Jewish Congress, or Israel Zangwill and the leaders in Zionism, who are either denying what he said or apologizing for it.

With what innocence the Congress invited Zangwill to come over and play without first determining what the game would be can be seen in the resignation of Samuel Untermyer from the Congress, because as head of the Keren Hayesod he can't remain after the things Zangwill said; and also in the busy attempt of Rabbi Wise to assure the world that Zangwill spoke to the Congress and not for it.

Then, too, there are those who actually invited Zangwill for the blameless purpose of injecting pep into the Congress. They are being deafened with abuse for the foolish error of asking a man with a mind who isn't afraid to speak it. While these men, almost in tears, are sitting and shaking their heads dolorously from side to side, it is not the Congress which has gained in red corpuscles, but it is Zangwill himself who is the subject of the day. And, although, as he himself says, the rank and file of Jewry failed to understand what he did say about Zionism, still by taking issue with him it is doing its little bit to project him so far into the limelight that he is the Jewish leader recognized above any other man.

CHURCH SOCIABLE

By Jean Starr Untermeyer

"Isn't it quaint," he turned and said to me,
"To watch these village people at the fair?"
But I had seen too often what was there;
I shrugged impatience at his sympathy. . .
I was a child again, and Mrs. Lee
And other members of the Ladies' Aid
At tables on the lawn, a meek parade,
Were serving cakes and glasses of iced tea.
I hated this weak pomp of charity,
This pauper feast to aid the stricken poor.
I watched these too-thin ladies seek their door
In sweetly pious insincerity;
Holding themselves so righteously alone,
Turning their Christian backs on Mrs. Cohn.

Bnai Brith

A largely attending meeting of the Bnai Brith Lodge took place Thursday evening, November 8, in the Travellers' Building. This meeting was open to the members, their wives and friends, it being the first time that a business session has ever been held by the Lodge in public. Following the usual routine of business which was of a most interest-that Emancipation Has Strenthgened and Benefited the Jewish People." The two sides were very well presented by Mr. Abraham Israels, Mr. Ben Rosenberg, Mr. Hyman Yaffa and Mrs. Max Kaplan.

Federated Budget News

The plans for the Federated Budget campaign which is to take place from November 20 to 23 are well under way. The various Jewish institutions have formed committees which have been appointed on the Central Jewish Campaign Committee. Representing the Jewish Orphanage and Children's Aid of Western Canada are Mr. M. H. Levinson, Mr. L. H. Levi, Mr. L. Davis and Mr. D. Spivak. Old Folk's Home representatives are Mr. S. Cossoy, Mr. E. Greenberg and Mrs. S. Gold and Mr. A. Slobinsky. Mr. B. Levinson and Mr. S. Goldin represent the United Hebrew Relief. In addition to these the following organizations are joining the Central Committee for the purpose of giving their service in the campaign. The Montefiore Club under the leadership of their President, Mr. Chas. Smithen; the Independent Order of Bnai Brith under their President, Mr. Max Steinkopf; the I.O.B.B. Summer Camp under the leadership of Mr. L. Rice; Hebrew Sick Benefit Society under Mr. L. Booke; Talmud Torah under Mr. H. E. Goldin and the Y.M.H.A. under Mr. A. E. Cantor, along with various other organizations which are forming committees to take part in the campaign. The Talmud Torah derives no benefit from the Budget, and an arrangement has been come to, so that the Budget Campaign Committee will continue its existence after the Budget drive is completed, and will arrange a campaign for the Talmud Torah, to take place a couple of weeks after the Budget campaign is over. The Talmud Torah has a staff of excellent teachers who are educating about 350 children free of charge, and another 150 who pay a very small fee. This organization does splendid work. It is well worth the support of the public.

Beth Sholim Congregation

Sunday evening, November 4, saw the commencement of a series of congregational get-together suppers which will be held under the auspices of the Sisterhood of the Beth Sholim Congregation. The arrangements of the first affair were carried out under the joint convenorship of Mrs. R. M. Frankfurter and Mrs. Harry Grossman, assisted by Mrs. H. Ganeske, Mrs. J. J. Korman, Mrs. Max Kofsky, Mrs. E. D. Mitchell and Mrs. S. L. Goldstine. The following are those who assisted at the tables: Misses Bernice Stern, Cynthia Rosenthal, Evelyn Rosenthal, Sara Finkelman, Rita Druxerman, Marion Korman, Leah Rosner and Roselle Berger. It is the intention of the Sisterhood to try to hold these suppers monthly. About 135 guests attended, the tables being very prettily adorned with flowers and plants. Following supper Mr. Sidney Goldstine, president of the congregation, addressed the gathering, thanked them for their co-operation, and expressed the wish that their support would continue throughout all the undertakings of the congregation, at the conclusion of which he introduced Mr. . A. Isaacs who referred to the needs of the community of the southern part of the city being filled by the formation of the congregation, which had already successfully formed Sunday School and Hebrew School, Young People's Literary and Social Society and Sisterhood, all of which were successfully carrying out their parts. He made reference to other activities required by the community, and offered suggestions which were promised the support of the executive. Following this a musical programme took numbers: Little Miss Gertrude Rosenthal, a pupil of Philip Shadwick, violin solos, accompanied by Miss Freda Rosner, followed by Miss Eva Israel, vocal solos, Miss Freda Rosner, piano solo and Miss Bernice Tissman, two songs, accompanied by Miss Rita Druxerman.

Monday evening, November 5, the Young People's Society held a dance and social evening in the class-rooms of the synagogue. During the course of the evening the President, Dr. Dave Isaacs, gave a short talk. Later in the evening refreshments were served, and dancing resumed. On Wednesday evening, November 21, another social evening will be held.

A joint service will be held during Chanukah, conducted entirely by the children of the Hebrew School and Sunday School, of the Beth Sholim Congregation. Preparations are under way. The members of the Sisterhood will provide goodies for the children.

SHAAREY ZEDEK

Sisterhood

The Sisterhood of the Shaarey Zedek Congregation held a dance Wednesday evening, November 17, at the Royal Alexandra Hotel. Due to the efforts of Mrs. Max Heppner, President of the Sisterhood, combined with the convenorship of Mrs. Dave Singer and Mrs. Sam Rodin, assisted by an able committee, the affair proved a success. Mrs. Douglas Rosen secured the splendid orchestra. The following are the committee; Meddames Louis F. Leipsic, Harry Cohen, Hyman Kay, M. Marcus, Shisoff, M. A. Shinbane, Louis Morosnik, Louis Churchill, J. J. Weidman, N. L. Green, J. Finkelman, Ben. Levi, S. Robinson and Max Rady.

The Sisterhood will be hostesses to the Jewish children taken care of by the Social Welfare, and also the United Hebrew Relief at a Chanukah treat some time in December. Besides their feast of goodies the children will be given gifts in the form of toys, socks, stockings, mittens, etc. An interesting programme is being arranged. These plans were made at a general meeting held at the synagogue, Wednesday afternoon, November 7, at which Mrs. Max Heppner resided. Satisfactory reports were given from the various committees, and the Budget Board Committee are making plans to assist in the city campaign which will take place this month.

A Chanukah service will take place on Sunday, December 9, at 4 o'clock, at the synagogue which will be conducted by the school children themselves. A special programme has been arranged.

T.I.B.A. JOINS ZIONIST FEDERATION

Another link in the chain of societies associated with the Zionist Federation was added on Sunday last, when at a largely attended meeting of the Toronto Independent Benevolent Association a motion was passed by which this organization decided to become affiliated with the Zionist Federation of Toronto. The motion was carried by an overwhelming majority.

The Toronto Independent Benevolent Association was organized about fifteen years ago as a benefit and benevolent society, and now has some 150 members. The present officers are: President, Samuel Shrott; past president, I. M. Gordon; vice-president, J. Gevirtzman; treasurer, Mr. Greenspoon; secretary, Mr. Feld; financial secretary, Mr. Reiser.

The president and vice-president were appointed temporary delegates on the Zionist Council.

Particular credit for the decision taken by the Society should be paid to Brothers Gordon Shrott and Gevirtzman, who spoke strongly in favour of the motion, and also to Mr. Sam Kronick and Mr. Cash, of the Zionist Council, who addressed the members at a previous meeting on the subject of affiliation.

BORN

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. I. Soskis, Douglas Drive, on Saturday, November 10, at the Toronto General Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. S. Stein (née Yetta Temes) on Wednesday, November 7, at the Toronto General Hospital.

MARRIAGES

Mandell—Bernbaum

The Men of England Synagogue was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Rebecca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bernbaum, became the bride of Mr. Solly Mandel, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Mandel. The marriage was solemnized by Rabbi Levy, assisted by Cantor Wladowsky, and instrumental quartet. The bride entered the Synagogue on the arm of her father, to Mendelssohn's wedding march. She looked charming in a white gown of satin-faced canton crepe, trimmed with pearls, and her veil was held in place with orange blossoms and pearls; she carried a shower bouquet of American Beauties. Miss Celia Switzer attended the bride as maid of honour and carried butterfly roses. Mr. Ben Freeman acted as best man. Misses Ida Bernbaum, Annie Mandel and Annie Spring were bridesmaids. The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Wiengold and Mr. M. Wiengold, Cumberland, Maryland, Mr. and Mrs. Kashin, Buffalo N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Zenner, Port Perry, Ont.

After the ceremony a reception took place with 300 guests present. Among the telegrams received by the newlyweds was one from Mr. Benny Gould, junior featherweight champion of the world. Mr. and Mrs. Mandel left for a short trip south.

Golden—Genesove

The home of Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Solway, Madison Avenue, decorated with ferns, chrysanthemums and roses was the scene of a pretty wedding Sunday, when the latter's sister, Miss Lena Genesove, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Genesove, was united in marriage to Dr. I. M. Golden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Golden, Toronto. Rabbi J. Gordon, assisted by Cantor Saitz officiated. The bride looked charming in a French gown of ivory crepe romaine, trimmed with moire ribbon and seed pearls. Her court train fell in graceful folds from the shoulders. Her veil was arranged in coronet style, with pearls and orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of ophelia roses and lillies-of-the-valley. Mrs. J. Pollack, dressed in black crepe romaine and carrying a bouquet of sunset roses, attended the bride. Mr. E. J. Genesove, brother of the bride, was the groom's attendant. Little Helen Solway and Minnie Wolf were flower girls, prettily frocked in yellow georgette, and carrying baskets of roses and sweet peas. A dinner and dance followed the ceremony. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Genesove, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. I. Wexler, New York; Mr. and Mrs. S. Shafrin, Rochester; Mr. N. Shiffrin, St. Louis; Dr. William Stone, Buffalo; Dr. S. Vogle, Chicago, and Mr. B. Kraimer, New York. Dr. and Mrs. Golden left for a wedding trip to Rochester, New York and other points, the bride travelling in a marvello coat and smart hat.

IN MEMORY

FEIGE LEDERMAN

Deep in our hearts there's a picture
Of our dear mother gone to rest;
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because she was one of the best.
'Tis not the tears at the moment shed
That tell how beloved is the mother that's fled,
'Tis the silent tears of the long days wept
And the fond remembrances ever kept.
Softly at night the stars are shining,
On a cold and silent grave,
Where thou liest, our dearest mother,
Whom we loved but could not save.
Sadly missed by family, Meyer, Mary, Lillie, Pearl, Esther, Jack.

POTASH AND PERLMUTTER AT PANTAGES

Laughs fairly trickle off the screen in "Potash and Perlmutter," the latest Jewish home-life motion picture. Like its predecessors, "Humoresque" and "The Good Provider," this new picture aims to present a picture of Jewish life. Unlike them, it has ventured into a new field. It has not sought to catch the more elusive atmosphere of home. Rather it seizes the Jew in a more obvious light, his office.

But if its goal has been the easier, the presentation has been the better. It is far from difficult to imagine Jews such as Abe Potash and Mawruss Perlmutter. The business world, especially clothing, seethes with them. No imagination is necessary. One had merely to look around at one's neighbours, at the private screening of the picture last Sunday evening.

Montagne Glass's famous characters are not altered a whit in this picture. The scenario writer, aided by three such capable actors as Vera Gordon, Barney Bernard and Alexander Carr, has recreated them and plunged them into experiences similar to those the famous humorist planned for them originally. The story is, of course, a trifle more climatic, to conform with screen requirements.

Potash and Perlmutter become partners in the clothing business early in the story. They live through a series of titillating experiences, that land them on the road to financial prosperity. Their success, however, is short-lived. On its very eve there is a strike in their shop. In the struggle the leader is shot and a charge is preferred against a sweetheart of Abe's daughter. The subsequent action, though speedy and tense, does not lose sight of the Jewish aspect of the position, although the temptation to make a straight melodrama is there.

Barney Bernard in the title role of Abe Potash was born evidently for no other reason than to some day act the part of Montague Glass's hero. He plays the part not as Barney Bernard, but as Abe Potash. If Bernard had gone into the clothing business, there is a huge suspicion that he would have furnished excellent material for another Montague Glass. His partner, Mawruss Perlmutter, is represented by Alexander Carr, who plays the part to perfection. He provides excellent relief for the expressive Potash, although himself no shadow. He is a strong character. Vera Gordon, as Potash's wife, is not in as dominating a part as the one she played in "The Good Provider" and "Humoresque." There she had a much bigger role. In this picture she is just another partner of Abe Potash.

The other characters all depict their roles well, although some of them could be more Jewish. They shine in the reflected glory of the more stellar character performers.
